About the ASG Week

The ASG-Week is the most important instrument for internal information exchange of the project where nearly all project members met to discuss their latest achievements in research and development in order to adjust and align them for a successful project ongoing. The 4th ASG-Week is the first project meeting after the official review by the European Commission that was done after one year the project has started. Review comments, project changes as well as current results are discussed and elaborated. Since the prolongation of the project was necessary to finalize the development of the ASG prototype and dedicated research activities in the field of service composition, and semantic description of services, next steps until the project end (M30) are planned and will be tackled.
